

Hear from our artistes on their views in support of the 'Break IN' Music Concert:

Artiste	iNCH Chua	THELIONCITYBOY	Scarlet Avenue	The Sam Willows	Ruth Ling	Taufik Batisah
Message	“Music or any creative endeavour and drugs has had a very tight association. The moment your creativity is dependent on something, you are essentially having a crutch in your life. It is important to exercise the right muscles in your heart when you are creating, more than anything else.”	“You can be in control of your situation. Whether you are in the music industry or at a festival, surround yourself with good people and that is already good medicine for you for any difficult time that you are going through. There is a better way to use your talent, use your time, use your gift than to be dependent and distracted by substances.”	“One of our new songs, “Help Me”, speaks about drug addiction. We have all gone through certain phases in life and we want people to know they are not alone and we are there to help them.”	“We hope to be change-makers and encourage more of our fans and youths alike to stay healthy, pursue their interests, speak up, start that conversation with friends about not abusing drugs. In short, life is too short to be crippled by toxicity. Pay the positive vibes forward and lead the rhythm in life.”	“Doing something like music and being with band members, writing songs together, channelling all of that creativity into the right space is really important. Each one of us also needs people to believe in us. When we are confident of ourselves, we know that our creativity is coming from the right place, we don't need substances to get us to somewhere else. The opportunity cost is too high.”	“Make the right choices, make the people who love you proud of you, so that they don't have to worry about you.”
About/ Upcoming projects	iNCH Chua is a Singaporean singer-songwriter, musician, producer and artist. She just released her latest music video on 2 June 2017 for one of Letters to Ubin's track – Simple Kind Of Life. Directed by Gerard Lopez and shot in Manila the music video	A Singaporean rapper, Kevin Lester has a strong following in western hip hop fans, as well as football enthusiasts from his LIONSXII collaboration.	Brothers – Amos and Adam – spent their formative years in France and begin their musical journey there. Upon returning to Singapore, they were signed to United Records and released their debut EP album – 'Happy Heartbreak'.	A Singaporean band which had performed at multiple international festivals, The Sam Willows released their debut album “Take Heart” in 2015. In 2016 they held a sold out concert “Take Heart Tour LIVE” and constantly look for opportunities to improve themselves.	Ruth Ling Launched Red Roof Records and is leading the Supporting Band for the 'Break In' concert. Ruth Ling and band has toured for over a decade with international superstars AMei,	Written, composed and produced the song “High On Love” commissioned by CNB. The song was launched in Oct 2016. Taufik is singing the song

	"features a deskbound iNCH dreaming of a simpler life whilst a robot attempts to win her over with several romantic gestures that all ultimately fail." Her new earworm at a whole new level of irresistible can be found: https://www.bandwagon.asia/articles/watch-inch-simple-kind-of-life-music-video-premiere	His most recent album (Paradise, 2016) saw collaboration with popular local names such as Gentle Bones, Charlie Lim and Benjamin Kheng. TLCB will be performing in several upcoming shows for the rest of the year. He is working on a few music videos from his album to be released throughout the year.	Their new album titled "Not everyone loves the same" is released on 16th June. It is a 8 months effort for both brothers in coming up with this album, exploring both their individuality and perspective in life. One of their new songs titled "Help Me" talks about addiction and how we can overcome it through seeking avenues of help.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Playing for SHINE Festival on 1st July 2017 • Playing in Japan for Summersonic 2017 in August • New single 'Keep Me Jealous' from upcoming album out now. 	Stefanie Sun, Angela Chang and other artistes to over 60 cities. A veteran in the industry, she is currently working on music arrangements with singers ALin and AMei..	at the ADAC Music Concert on 16 June as a special guest performance.
--	---	--	--	---	---	---